A right off 340
At Andy Guest
Onto Daughter of Stars
For your Quest.

At the top of the hill
You will see
A booth to stop at
And a ranger to pay your fee.

Ask the ranger what word means “Daughter of the Stars”:

A map you will acquire With rules and regulations
To preserve the land
For human and animal populations.

Take only _____, leave only _____
(Hint: Found on back of map.)

On to Culler’s parking
To leave your car.
Get ready to go hiking –
It’s not that far.

Grab your gear,
Let’s go,
But first read the notice board
For things you should know.

(Did you know...at one time there was talk of putting a waste transfer facility in the vicinity?)

Adhere to what is said on the sign

‘cause you don’t want to be

A patient with _____

(Hint: an illness caused by ticks)

Now to your right

Overlook Trail you will spy

This is what

We shall walk by.

How can this trail be used? _____

(Hint: Look on map legend.)

At the junction

Straight ahead

Toward the treasures

This park has kept.

Look high, look low.

There is so much

To be found

In the valley below.

There are squirrels and flowers

That you will find,

Butterflies and mushrooms

Of all kinds.

(Did you know...that squirrels will eat mushrooms?)

There are scratch marks and holes

On many trees.

Can you guess what makes them?

How hard can that be?

(If you see a black prickly caterpillar, do not touch!)

Holes are from what? _____
(Hint: hard-pecking bird)

Scratch marks are from what?
(Hint: big, black, hairy!)

(If you see a bear, do not run! Back away slowly.)

Listen to your left,
What do you hear? _____
You may be able to see it
When trees are clear.

Just a little longer
And you'll be at a Y intersection.
Take a moment, if you want,
For reflection.

Take a right
To the Visitors Center.
Pause a moment
Before you enter.

Walk across
The square of stones,
And look upon
The swimmers lone.

What do you see swimming? _____

Listen to the calming sound
Of the Shenandoah water garden round.

How many rapids can you count? _____
Are there any flowers blooming?

Go inside and do not hide.
The Park Ranger's there to be a guide.

(Take a look around the Visitors Center if you like.)

If they're there,
Just say hi,
Then back to the trail
To fly.

Go right
At Hemlock Hollow Trail. (Y intersection)
Now don't dilly-dally
Or you'll fail!

Down, down, down
You will travel.
Watch your step!
There's lots of gravel.

Cross the bridge
Where mountains part.
Look all around
The beautiful park.

(Did you know... inmates from White Post Correctional Center built the original bridges with hand-cut trees from this forest?)

What kind of plants
Do you see?
Majestic pine and _____ trees.
(Hint: the name of this hollow)

Skip across the second bridge:
The treasure box will be
Not high but low
Below your knee.

There's one more treasure,
It's a feast,
So please don't skip it
In the least:

Retrace your steps
To the Culler's parking lot.
Proceed to the Culler's
Overlook spot.

(Keep your eyes open for camouflaged lizards in the sun along the way back.)

Behold the beauty
Of our valley,
And this time,
You may dilly-dally.

How many bends can you count? _____
Are there any rafts or canoes on the Shenandoah?

With the change of seasons
The treasures, too, change,
So that's one big reason
To visit again!
